SEVERELY CENSURED.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Architect Gay, who designed the Rockford, Ill., Court House, which fell yesterday, left last night for Rockford, in response to a telegram sent to him by the officials there, and his statement cannot be obtained. The papers, however, are publishing accounts of the mishaps to Chicago buildings of which he has been the architect, and they make a formidable list. Prominent architects express great doubt as to his fitness to make plans and specifications. The feeling both here and in Rockford seems to be that Contractor Richardson is comparatively blameless, he having, at his own expense, placed strong works in what he considered weak places, and hav-ing pleaded with the Building Commit-tees for stronger material, but in vain. The workmen were largely from Spring-field, Richardson having taken them from

SHERMAN'S POLICY.

The Evening Post says of the conference yesterday of Secretary Sherman with the bankers who constitute the American membership of the Syndicate having charge of the Four-and-one-half per cent bond negotiation, nothing was done to extend the contract, which expires on the 30th of June, or to modify it. The Syndicate agreed to take $25,000,000 of Four-and-one-half per cent bonds this month, and $2,500,000 in June, and pay gold for the same, with the understanding that no Five-twenty six per cent bonds shall be called in to offset this sale. The gold so received, it is said, will be held either for redemption purposes in 1879, or, if sold, for legal tender will be neid either for redemption pur-poses in 1879, or, if sold, for legal tender notes, these notes will be held perma-manently for the redemption of fractional currency. The fractional currency has in good measure been destroyed, and will never come in for redemption and will beld, Richardson having taken them from that city with him.
